ONE SYSTEM, ONE INTERFACE, COMPLETE CONTROL...

Your new digital home combines lighting, security, climate control, and audio into a single intelligent system. This integration saves energy, offers increased security and protection, and boosts entertainment throughout your home. Here are few examples of what's possible:

When you arrive home, music and lighting turn on to preset levels while the HVAC system adjusts to your preferred temperature.

A single press of the "Good Night" button at bedtime cools the house, turns off music, dims lights, and arms the security system.

Before you get out of bed, the house is brought to life again automatically.

ALWAYS CONNECTED

Whether you are inside your home or on the other side of the world, you are always connected. A simple phone call can arm the security system, turn on the hot tub, or warm the house before you arrive home.

Full internet access allows you complete control of your home, including online surveillance through live security cameras. You can also receive a phone call or email from the system to let you know when the cleaning crew has left or when your child arrives home from school.

CUSTOM TAILORED TO YOU & YOUR FAMILY

A home automation system is only useful if it improves your quality of life. To some, this means reducing energy usage and automating routine tasks. To others it means filling the house with rich music and entertainment options.

Your system is personalized and programmed by the best HAI programmers in the industry. Just like your iPod music library, your automated home will be specific to you and your tastes.

Once the system has been installed, any testing, modifications, or updates can be made over the internet. Any programming requests you have are fulfilled within 48 hours.
